Terms and requirements

- Entering the Maldives is usually hassle free, with no visas required for anyone staying 30 days or less. Just make sure your passport will be valid for at least 6 months after exiting. However, you should still check your visa requirements and if applicable apply for a visa to the Maldives yourself in your home country.
- You should know the name of your resort or hotel and be able to show a return air ticket out of the country if asked for by immigration officials.
- Foreigners are subject to the laws of the country in which they are travelling and will receive no special consideration because they are tourists. If you find yourself in a sticky legal predicament, contact your embassy.
- Never leave your valuables unattended. Travelflex will not be responsible for any loss or theft.
- A travel insurance policy to cover theft, loss and medical problems is a good idea. Travelflex does not include such insurance, you are responsible for having a valid travel insurance.
- Alcohol, pornography, pork, narcotics, dogs, firearms, spear guns and 'idols of worship' cannot be brought into the country. Baggage is always X-rayed and may be searched carefully. The importation of multiple bibles (one for personal use is fine), pornography and, in particular, drugs, will be treated very seriously.
- Alcohol is illegal outside resorts – you are not allowed to take even a can of beer out on a boat trip.
- Nude sunbathing can result in a fine for both you and the resort.
- Public displays of affection should not be indulged by anyone (gay or straight), the Maldives is an extremely conservative place.
- We may revise and update this vacation package at any time, in our sole discretion and without prior notice. All changes are effective immediately upon posting.
- The export of turtle shells, or any turtle shell products, is forbidden. Do not take any shells or other natural product home.
- Beware of falling coconuts – they can cause severe head injuries
